RASKOB SHARED PROFIT

Numerous Stock Issues Manipulated for Huge Sums, Investigators Believe

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON May 19—A radio pool in 1929 which netted the operators a $5 000 000 profit was the immediate objective today in the senate banking committee's investigation of the New York stock market

John J Raskob and a score of prominent persons were described before the senate banking committee today as profiting more than $3 000 000 from the pool in radio stock in 1929

William A Gray committee counsel announced before the hearings were resumed that Thomas Bragg James McConnochie and Lamond O Brien would be questioned on operations of the pool

The committee also has information from which it expects to develop the existence of a General Asphalt pool a Chrysler pool and an Anaconda Copper pool

Other cases which will be developed Gary said involve the Goldman Sachs Trading corporation Indian Motorcycles and General Foods

McConnochie and O Brien are partners of M J Meehan specialist in radio whose wife participated in another pool previously described to the committee

Bragg who has testified before participated in that pool with Meehan's wife and told of several other pool operations

The hearing was delayed a while to allow Gray to finish his preparations

Total profits from the 7 day pool in the radio stock in 1929 were set as $4 924 018 on an investment of $12 683 000

Among the others in the pool were W F Kenny, Mrs M J Meehan Walter P Chrysler Charles M Schwab; Mrs David Sarnoff and H B Swope

The names of the pool members and their profits were read to the committee by William A Gray committee counsel

Raskob Gray said put up $1 000 000 and made a profit of $221 000 He said Schwab invested $200 000 and made $58 000

Mrs Sarnoff wife of the radio corporation executive put up no money but participated in the profits Gray said

Kenny's investment was placed at $1 000 000 and profit at $291 000

This evidence was developed for the record while Thomas E Bragg Wall street trader was on the stand

WOMEN DENIED EQUAL RIGHTS

Appointment to Pastorates on Same Basis with Men Voted Down

RETAIN OLD STATUS

Debate Lasts More Than Two Hours· Vote 417 to 331 Against Proposal.

By The Associated Press

ATLANTIC CITY N J May 19 Ministerial equality with men is goal which women still have to attain in the Methodist Episcopal church

They marshalled their arguments for equal franchise in the ministry before the general conference last night and there were times during the two hours and a half debate which followed when it seemed as if their crusade would be successful

The final vote, however, retained the amendment which would allow women married or single, to share the same status of ordained ministers and to become members of the various annual conferences which compose the church The vote was 417 to 331

The women retain their present status in Methodism They can be admitted to local orders' under which they are allowed to preach and to administer baptism marriage and the sacrament of the Lords supper But they are still supply or substitute preachers and they cannot receive an appointment to a pastorate

The fourteenth ballot to be cast for the election of two new bishops recorded no change in the indecisive aspect the voting has taken during the last few days

TAX MARRIAGES

St Paul Woman Suggests New Way To Solve Various Problems

By The Associated Press

ST PAUL Minn May 19—A suggestion that a charge of $500 for each marriage license issued may help solve the tax problem and maybe divorce and other marital difficulties was made yesterday to the St Paul citizens tax relief association by Mrs Bertha Ortell

"A young fellow gets an automobile on installments said Mrs. Ortell "Then he hunts up a girl, and before you know it he is married Then there are children and the poor taxpayers have to dig up money to school them and often to support them

"Now if a fellow had to have $500 to get married he wouldn't be in such a hurry. Another thing, there wouldn't be so many divorces."

NEW YORK May 19—The German airliner DO X its great motors roaring in the silence of Long Island sound took off at 4 05 a. m (Marion time) this morning for Harbor Grace N F on the first lap of its return trip to Germany

A radio message to the Hamburg-American line from the liner Albert Ballin said it had picked up a radio message from the giant airliner reporting the flying boat had covered 90 knots in the first hour of its flight from New York to Harbor Grace

Changes Anchorage

The huge seaplane was flown from North Beach to Manhasset bay late last night The Radio Marine Corp said its reports indicated the reason for the move was a belief that Manhasset bay afforded the heavily loaded plane a longer and safer runway than would the North Beach water stretch

The roar of the great seaplane's powerful motors was heard by newspapermen scurrying about the bay in fast launches endeavoring to locate it in the darkness

It had been lost to them since it taxied away from North Beach last night

Later it was learned that the ship had not left the water enroute to its new anchorage. It had taxied the first mile or so and then was towed by boat

BROOKLYN TEACHER SOUGHT FOR QUIZ IN LINDBERGH CASE

GARNER RELIEF PLAN OFFERED

Asks Cooperation of Administration for Passage of Three Suggestions

WOULD SPEND 2 BILLIONS

Proposed Federal Building Bond Issue, Broadening of Finance Corporation

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON May 19 Speaker Garner today in a formal statement made three suggestions to relieve the economic situation in the country and said he hoped the administration would cooperate with congress in enacting them into legislation

His program called for the issuance of one billion dollars in bonds for a government building program broadening the base of the reconstruction finance corporation to add one billion dollars to its present two billion dollar capital and passage of the Huddleston bill to plac $100 000 000 in the hands of President Hoover to be used in relieving extreme suffering in any section of the country

Opposes Dole

Garner said he was unalterably opposed to the dole but it must be apparent that before congress adjourns some real effort must be made toward taking care of the unemployment situation as well as the people who are in physical distress as a result of lack of food and raiment

Garner issued the formal statement after numerous conferences with various groups in his party and members of the Republican party

His suggestions follow

First I would pass what is known as the Huddleston bill which has for its purpose the placing in the hands of the President $100 000 000 to be used as he deems necessary to relieve extreme suffering in any section of the country

Change Corporation

Second I would broaden the base of the Reconstruction Finance Corp permit it to exercise its judgment in making loans without any restriction whatever and add $1 000 000 000 to its authorized issue making the total $3 000 000 000 instead of $2 000 000 000 as at present This would enable that corporation to loan funds to states counties and cities here illegal and adequate security could be offered

Third I would provide for the issuance of $1 000 000 000 worth of bonds for the purpose of a governmental building program based largely upon laws already passed by congress and approved by the President

Praising the improvement conforms with specifications required if the state is to give aid in the improvement of a street, the state highway department will be able to help finance the work because East Center street is part of a much used state and federal highway bearing the title of Federal route 309, Dr Altmaier explained.

CURTIS' STORY OF HOAX

Statement of Col Hughes Curtis 760 Redgate Avenue, Norfolk, Va.

Made by Mr Curtis and on free will

Referring to the two articles made previously by me in regards to the Lindbergh Case

At the present I would not care that I honestly believe that for the last seven or eight months I have not been myself, due to financial troubles.

I was apparently be well beside by my actions by my telephone conversation with my wife this afternoon when she told me of the troubles she was having and how the girls missed me also by my conversation with Inspector Harry W Ha ard.

I desire to state that my remarks about the newspapers are true and can be verified, this is in reference to my story about Mr Hackell and Mr Wilcox of the Daily Pilot and Mr Lee of the News and Mr Turin and Fox, officials, as a result of my knowledge of the Lindbergh Case or pictures of the baby

The matter was brought to my attention during a conversation and due to what I had believed was a delicate situation over it I became insane on the subject for a time and set to create the story in its entirety, which were untrue in every respect

I never knew such a be that I posed to Colonel Lindbergh and they were creatures of a diseased mind, with the exception of Harris Truesdale, who had no connection of a like kind.

I sincerely regret that I ever colonel Lindbergh and others any inconveniences and wish it were in my power to correct my wrong.

In justice to my wife and to Colonel Lindbergh to I write the inconveniences sorry and injustice I did him in his time of grief

This statement has been brought about by the realization of the wrong I have done.

ANONYMOUS LETTER GIVES TIP ON BABY

Message Instructed Police To Follow "Telephone Wires" to Hiding Place of Kidnap Gang.

By The Associated Press

NEWARK N J May 19 The Newark Evening News said today that 10 days after the kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby Chief of Police William Walker of Trenton received an anonymous letter directing police to follow the Lindbergh telephone wires and the baby and "the three other men would be found

The body of the kidnaped Lindbergh baby was found a week ago today close to the main 1 from Hopewell to Princeton At its that road ran special duties laid by police conducting the investigation from the Lindbergh garage

Chief Walker wrote attention across the face of the letter, the paper said and forwarded it to the police at Hopewell He never received any report as to investigation of the letter

The News said Chief Walker favored the theory that the letter might have been written by one of four men who kidnaped the baby

The text of the letter as published in the News follows

'Mr Chief

'I am willing this letter from New York I am going home to Canada When I get to Buffalo I will mail it to you That will give me more time to safely escape I figured I am in enough trouble I got cold feet and the fellows knew it I promised not to squeal and they gave me money and I am going home

Maybe I won't get caught We all thought we could make some easy money We got a place near Elizabeth N J and one of the fellows who is pretty smart runs a wire in this place and listens to everything the Lindbergs say

He must be smart because every time the telephone rings he picks up the receiver and never talks When he hangs up the receiver he always says I never knew I was so smart'

'The Linberg baby is taken very good care of and is feeling fine when I left the fellows, only it cries too much and the fellows are afraid somebody will hear it. Nobody will hurt it because they all like it. The baby has lots of toys and a small black dog. The fellows don't want no more ransom"

OHIO STATE PICKED TO WALK OFF WITH TRACK CHAMPIONSHIP

Buckeyes Figured by Dopesters as Class of Big Ten This Season.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O May 19 The dopesters Dark Ohio State can and will win the Western conference track and field championship at Evanston tomorrow and Saturday

Followers of the Buckeye track and field men realize that it is tough to figure the possible outcome of the Big Ten meet because in the past upsets have been frequent and the strength of one or two teams is undetermined However they do know just what the Buckeye boys are capable of and so they figure Ohio for a total of a mass 51 points to take top honors Past records show that 50 points will win the meet and if all the Ohio individuals and teams check as they should on the face of meets this spring the crown will come to Buckeyedom

The dopesters most optimistic summary of possible points for Ohio lists Bennett to win the 100 and 220 with Fazekas third in the 100 and second in the furlong

Teitlebaum is doped to finish second in the 440 behind Hill of Michigan in the 440 Tillis is counted on for nine points in the mile run Keller to score [illegible] expected ten points must be added by Iowa in both the hurdles Black is figured to place third in the high hurdles and fifth in the 220 low hurdles The dopesters think the Buckeye relay team should finish at least fourth behind Michigan Iowa and Wisconsin

SEEKS SECOND SPEED CROWN

When the Indianapolis race is run off on Memorial day this year Louis Schneider winner of the 1931 event will be defending his crown and seeking the second straight victory something never accomplished Schneider is shown above with his mechanic, Bixler Johnson

HARRIS GAINS NICHE IN HALL OF FAME BY NO-HIT PERFORMANCE

Kansas City Victim of St Paul Hurler's Tossing, Columbus Moves Up

CHICAGO May 19—After years of tossing in major and minor league parks Bryan Harris has joined the not run immortals of baseball

The veteran St Paul mound checked in with his brilliant performance yesterday by setting the Kansas City Blues

He faced only 28 men in 9 innings—three batters worked him for passes but only one had the effect of driving the ball to the outfield two were escorted quickly to the bench via double play Yes Paul won the game 9 to 0 as Saints rocked Tory Fa[illegible] for hits

Harris has been pitching since 1918 He hurled for the Philadelphia Athletics later going to the Boston Red Sox and then to St Paul

While Harris stole the limelight the Columbus Red Birds defeated Indianapolis 11 to 10 in a slugging battle to sweep the three game series and draw to within a game of the league leading Reds in the flag race

Minneapolis made it two straight over Milwaukee 10 to 6 as Ganzel drove in seven runs with a home run double and single

Toledo nipped two ominous ties in the eighth and ninth innings to defeat Louisville 5 to 3

Anti-Knock? YES!

But PLUS Increased Power, Pep and Mileage, with Improved ALL 'ROUND Performance

CHECK
Here Claims Yourself

Try one tankful of New Purol-Pep! Let your motor be the judge of its superior all 'round performance.

- ANTI-KNOCK
- INSTANT STARTING
- QUICK PICK-UP
- SUSTAINED POWER
- GREATER MILEAGE
- 1932 ECONOMY

Most gasolines have been recently stepped up in anti-knock quality, to meet the requirements of modern high compression motors. This has been accomplished in many instances by sacrificing other important qualities.

Not so with new Purol-Pep. Gyro Vapor Phase refining has made it possible to increase the anti-knock rating of this "regular price" gasoline to a point where it now equals some premium grades. This special process not only produces the highest anti-knock gasoline known in the refining industry, it also improves gasoline performance in many other ways.

For example. Gasoline made by the Gyro Process is heavier than ordinary gasolines. That means it contains more heat units. The more heat units the better the mileage. Hence, from the standpoint of mileage economy you'll find new Purol-Pep is the thriftiest gasoline buy you ever made.

You'll also find this Gyro-Processed gasoline puts new life in your motor—makes it start quicker, pick up faster. You'll marvel at the smooth, surging power it delivers on steep hills.

Next time you buy gasoline, fill up with Purol-Pep. Test it for pick-up, speed, power. Then check your mileage. Compare its all 'round performance with other gasolines. You'll find it gives you what you're looking for these days—most value for your money.

DO YOU INHALE?

. . . wonder why cigarette advertising generally avoids this question?

ONE of the mysteries in cigarette advertising has been the apparent fear of the word "inhale." It seems rather foolish—for everybody inhales—whether they realize it or not . . . every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

Think, then, how important it is to be certain that your cigarette smoke is pure and clean—to be sure that you don't inhale certain impurities.

Kellogg's today are the finest corn flakes ever made

TWENTY-FIVE years ago W. K. Kellogg discovered corn flakes. Since then many brands have come and gone. But Kellogg's have always stood as the standard of quality. Constant improvements have made and kept them the finest corn flakes possible to buy.

Today's Kellogg's are the best value ever offered in corn flakes. Behind them is 25 years' experience. Behind them are the most modern cereal plants in the world, and an organization of loyal expert workers, thousands strong.

From Triumphs Abroad.

From time to time as the world spitters along on half its cylinders come stories of Charlie Chaplin's unprecedented triumphs abroad. He is lionized in England, feted in France, praised here, given the keys to the city there—a continuous welcome that no monarch could buy with money.

A few days ago this remarkably successful funny man landed in Japan. Thousands of that nation's enthusiastic moving picture fans were willing to battle to the death for a chance to see him. So many tickets were purchased for the train on which he was riding that extra coaches and locomotives had to be supplied.

One wonders if Mr. Chaplin intends to come back to the United States. And then one wonders why he should come back. It would seem that he only works here; he triumphs abroad. Excellent comedian that he is, it is straining the imagination to conceive of cities turning out to welcome him in the country which gave him his opportunity to be famous.

Singers work hard in Europe to win the right to boast of "triumphs abroad." The world's best known film comedian makes an indefinite stay, never turning a finger in his professional capacity, yet makes the greatest triumph any jealous favorite could desire. Folks back home are beginning to wonder what they must have overlooked. They know he was good, but a "triumph abroad"—that's something.

Perhaps so. More likely, the United States has come into its own at last. It has discovered at least one art in which its word is law—not the word of its neighbors. Americans may get fooled on literature, painting, music, but they know their moving pictures. And when Charlie Chaplin returns from his "triumphal" tour he still will have to keep on making good with the super-critics who put him where he is today. The United States sets the world's screen styles.

Some of these high-salaried married movie couples recommend living in separate houses to promote matrimonial felicity, which would be a good idea except for the unfortunate fact that most of us would have to find a landlord generous enough to provide the extra house rent free.

Unavailable.

Owen D. Young, without ever moving a finger in his own behalf, has become one of the four men mentioned most frequently as possible Democratic candidates for the presidency. It has been a stirring tribute to his character that his friends have paid him in this way.

But Mr. Young, who has appeared in recent weeks as the likely alternate if Franklin D. Roosevelt's strength continued to wane, will not be available for the nomination. His announcement to that effect, made in a letter to a friend, is the most interesting bit of political news of the week.

His reasons are personal. They are so controlling "as not to be open to argument," he says. One surmise names his wife's poor health as the cause for his decision to withdraw in advance from the honor that many able commentators have predicted would be given to him.

However that may be, his action is vitally important. It means that another man accedes into the position he vacates—the position of his party's most attractive dark horse. In the true sense of that frequently vague phrase, Mr. Young is not a politician. He never held an office. He would have been an unknown outsider in the presidential race.

Who profits from the strength of the position he vacates? Logically, it would seem to be the next bona fide dark horse, Melvin A. Traylor, the Chicago banker. It is a question, however, whether or not some of his strength didn't go to Newton D. Baker, the underlined candidate whose political past has caused him to be considered as a factor from the first.

Mr. Traylor is not strong enough in his own right to profit greatly from moving into Mr. Young's vacated position. Mr. Baker, therefore, gains the advantage of losing one opponent from the class of the field. It is an exciting omen for Ohio that as the time for the Democratic convention draws near his name is destined to be mentioned with increasing frequency.

Remember the good old days—or were they—when the august U. S. senate wouldn't permit a new member to give a speech until he had been enrolled at least a year? Some of the newcomers now probably would retain popularity longer if the same rule were in effect.

An Advocate of Idealism.

An address by an 80-year-old physician was among the many interesting and valuable messages heard at the sixty-eighth annual convention of the Ohio State Eclectic Medical association, which closed here yesterday.

Dr. Jean Ellen Lloyd of Cincinnati was the speaker. He is a doctor who belongs to both the old school and the modern school, for as years moved along he has kept in step with the advancement of medical science.

Dr. Lloyd believes in idealism and declares that every physician should be an idealist. That philosophy is good for men and women in every walk of life. Higher standards would be maintained if every person in professional and business activities would follow closely principles of a lofty nature, principles which give the utmost consideration to the welfare of humanity.

The successful physician necessarily pursues that course in life. The lives and happiness of others depend largely upon his skill and considerations and as a rule he measures up fully to this responsibility.

Dr. Lloyd in his time has witnessed a great change and advancement in medical knowledge and practice. He recognizes and acknowledges this progress but at the same time does not hesitate to speak words of praise for the achievements of his profession. They performed a marvelous service with the comparatively limited facilities at their command. It was their pioneering that laid the basis for the marvelous achievements made possible today in the preservation and prolongation of human life.

Too much can not be said not only for the old-time physician, but also for those in other fields of endeavor who laid the early foundations for the structures of these modern times. And had it not been for the idealism and altruism of these whole-souled pioneers, most of our present-day advantages and conveniences would not be in existence.

These perfect luck contests are all interesting enough in their way but still register considerably short of stirring up the enthusiasm that quarter, half and full backs arouse in the fall of the year.

Three-Quarters of a Million.

Part of the work of the general assembly in special session last Monday was to authorize issuance of $750,000 in certificates of indebtedness to pay for damage caused by an explosion in the unfinished state office building. Would that this enactment provoked no more misgivings than the assembly's other measures, notably the one permitting defunct banks to borrow money from the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

Unfortunately, the presence of several jokers is suspected in the former bill. The state's taxpayers are uneasy about paying for damages to a building that hadn't been turned over to them by the contractors, even though they are assured that they are expected to hold the bag only until litigation has been ended. In the words of Governor White, the reason why the state should assume the liability is as follows:

> Further progress on the work can not be made without additional money to cover the cost of the destruction effected by the explosion. The state building commission believes that if the work of rehabilitation and completion of the structure is deferred until liability is fixed, the state will have an unfinished building on its hands for several years to come, with attendant heavy loss in rentals and interest on investment. Sound judgment dictates that the work be carried on at once. The commission believes the people of Ohio will approve and uphold that judgment. No politics is involved. The crisis and the tragedy belong to all.

It is unlikely that the contractor will be capable of assuming liability for any considerable portion of the damage. Whatever happens, Ohio is going to carry the bag; it is starting early. Three-quarters of a million more? It's a lot of money. But who else could be expected to pay it when the state is one of the parties involved?

A number of rifles and counties throughout the country are getting rid of dishonest officials by the jury route, thus contributing materially to the present wave of government economy.

Summer Session.

Realization that congress won't be able to finish its work before time for the political conventions in June has settled over the country like old age on a busy man. There was reluctance to admit it at first, but facts can't be dodged. Formal announcement of the summer session is not surprising. Congress will reconvene sometime in July or August and continue to demonstrate how much trouble representative government can be when there are too many cooks interested in the broth.

The easiest way is to yield to the fact gracefully, there being nothing else to do, as a matter of fact. How unfortunate, however, that Huey Long, Louisiana's showoff senator, had to pick the night before such an announcement to clown before a busy senate. For three solid hours he talked, while senators who had hoped to get some work done in a night session despaired of the rightness of things.

Mr. Long is either cute or dumb. If it is his idea that he is cute, he is dumb. And if he is dumb—well, there isn't anything that can be done about it, things being what they are. However, it should be some comfort to those who resent his circus antics to know that any time they decide to toss him out into the plaza after such an exhibition as he gave Monday night they can depend on the support of the people of 47 states, begging Louisiana's pardon. Huey! Huey! Huey!

Editorial Opinion.

HANDICAPPED CHILDREN OF NATION.

One of the echoes of the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection comes in the announcement that 5,630,000 children in the country are handicapped in one way or another. It is estimated that 35,000,000 or seven-ninths of the child population, are "reasonably normal;" 1,500,000 are reported as "specially gifted." Millions have impaired hearing; others are totally deaf, have defective speech, weak or damaged hearts, are mentally retarded, crippled or are partly or wholly blind. Some of these are hopeless, but the great majority are most promising if they be taken in hand now instead of permitting them eventually to become charges on the community.

The conference recommendation said among other things: "It is unquestionably better policy to spend more money today in helping the handicapped child to help himself than it is to spend many times as much tomorrow in supporting him at public expense. It is sound public policy, not charity, to provide special treatment and training for all types of exceptional children. The education of the crippled child is not philanthropy—it is enlightened self-interest." It is significant that 1,000,000 school children between the ages of five and eight are so defective in speech that they require remedial treatment and training. Yet only 40,000 of them are receiving it at present. The 1,000,000 children who have weak or damaged hearts include 375,000 with serious heart troubles. Where there is early discovery, treatment and training a large percentage of these children become normal in the course of a few years.

The importance of helping the handicapped can not be too strongly emphasized. If they continue to be neglected we must pay the penalty in one way or another. The need for such help and special training is evidenced by the 500,000 individuals found in prisons, hospitals for mental diseases, almshouses and institutions for the feeble-minded. The committee, in its report to the White House Conference, says of this half million: "They are largely the driftwood which has not been detected in the schoolroom and wisely trained." —Philadelphia Inquirer.

A WILD IDEA.

Enthusiasm oftentimes makes folks do silly things which in calm moments of reflection they would avoid. For instance, Mrs. Archibald Roosevelt has declared it is her plan to make the country "repeal conscious," as she puts it, by plastering a prohibition repeal poster on every fence post in the land, placing a card in every store window and a plate on every automobile.

Of course, Mrs. Roosevelt is talking through her permanent wave when she indulges in this exaggeration. Furthermore, if she attempted to clutter up the country in this elaborate manner she would defeat the very thing she has set out to accomplish. It would be better for Mrs. Roosevelt to observe temperance in her publicity campaign and not profane the American countryside.—Ohio State Journal.

The government can not be dictated to by organized minorities, the President says. And, if you ask us, by organized majorities, either.—Goshen Daily News.

Tommy Is Satisfied.

And as we read about Mr. Curtis and his confession that his adventures with the kidnapers were all fakes we called little Tommy Atkins, our Scallyham pup, over and told him we wished we could trade places with him, but Tommy must have read the story, too, because he looked at us with an expression which said very plainly that he did not care to belong to the human race.—Chicago Tribune.

Guard Health in Weather Changes.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Changing weather conditions at the different seasons have a powerful influence on the comfort and well-being of a large number of apparently healthy individuals. Even the strongest of human beings are susceptible to the weather.

Summer with its high temperature and great humidity plays havoc with many a strong man, but there are often who endure the summer heat with remarkable fortitude. They claim they never feel as well as when the temperature rises well into the eighties. The excellent elimination through the skin which accompanies free perspiration is undoubtedly the reason for this happy state.

Then again there is a fairly large class of people who say they never feel well during the cold winter months. They shiver and shake when they are exposed to the cold, and very often their discomfort causes them to take refuge in close-overheated rooms. This practice is most harmful, and renders suffering acute when they are forced to go into the outer air again.

A sluggish circulation of the blood, often associated with anemia or with a system below physical par, is frequently at the bottom of the trouble. Incorrect diet is another very common cause.

In winter, heat-producing foods are required. A diet which may ordinarily meet the requirements in warm or temperature weather is insufficient for cold weather.

Heat-producing foods are fats, grain foods and sugars. Oatmeal with cream and sugar for breakfast, bacon and eggs and a cup of cocoa instead of tea or coffee, make a good start for a cold day.

A salt water sponge daily, followed by energetic friction with a rough towel, is an excellent means of stimulating the circulation of the blood. Setting-up exercises after the bath are most healthful, and a daily walk in the open air has a powerful influence for good.

A common ailment of those with poor circulation is chilblains. A chilblain is a local congestion of the skin, usually on the feet or hands, and sometimes the nose. This congestion is followed by inflammation of the affected part, and sometimes by a skin eruption.

On entering a warm room from the outer cold, one should never approach a fire. If the hands or feet feel cold and numb, they should be sponged with cold water.

To escape the discomfort of chilblains, shoes should be large and the feet should be well protected by suitable stockings. Tight garters should not be worn, as they interfere with proper circulation of the blood. Measures to improve the general health should be taken.

Even with the advent of warm weather the inflamed tissues cause discomfort. An application of iodine in collodion will protect the sore spots and reduce the inflammation.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

O.S.J. Q.—How can I overcome acid in the stomach and constipation? I have been bothered with indigestion, eczema, nasal catarrh, also. What would you advise?

A.—For full particulars restate your question and send a stamped self-addressed envelope.

A Times Reader Q.—Will you kindly advise if rubber girdles are injurious to the health?

A.—They are not harmful, but it is not advisable to wear rubber reducing garments next to the skin.

Evelyn Q.—What should a girl of 16, 5 feet 6 inches tall weigh?

A.—She should weigh about 125 pounds. This is about the average weight for a person of this age and height as determined by examination of a large number of persons. A few pounds above or below the average is a matter of little or no significance.

Troubled Q.—The pores on my nose are very large and show very plainly when I use powder and when I do not it gets red and shiny. I also get many pimples. What can I do to get rid of these things?

A.—For full particulars restate your question and send a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Slum Problem Unsolved.

BY HERBERT MOORE
United Press Correspondent

London, May 19—Slums within a minute's walk of Buckingham palace and the Parliament buildings bear grim testimony to the fact that the government's slum-clearance program is far from fulfillment.

Budgetary economy has drastically retarded the building of new houses for workers in the suburbs here and other cities. Critics of the government's economics are more fiercely protesting the delay in meeting the alleged housing shortage which some estimate is still 1,500,000 houses below national requirements.

In answer to these criticisms, the national government through the minister of health, Sir E. Hilton Young, has issued facts to show that since the war 1,820,000 houses have been built, although the population has increased only about one million. It is claimed, taking the country as a whole, there is no housing shortage.

In spite of this, municipal and county authorities are insistently demanding that the government tackle the slum problem "courageously and scientifically." Evidence is being produced to show that many of the working classes throughout Britain are living in "sordid and degrading housing conditions, the continuance of which is nothing less than a social menace."

Local authorities are agreed that even if the country is heavily taxed, the government must keep up a steady program of housing and rehousing the workers.

Some improvement in the amount of unemployment in the building industry has occurred since January, but at the end of March it was approximately 248,000. Experts expect that it may decline to about 200,000 by the end of May as seasonal building gets fully into swing, but even then, 200,000 is a huge number for the government to be supporting. It is therefore argued that it would be relatively less expensive for the government to launch an extensive housing program and mobilize these workers off the dole.

Houses built by the state, or with the state's assistance, are gradually becoming the property of the workers through schemes by which they pay scarcely more than the normal rent. In many cases, however, the new houses are not becoming the property of their occupants and there is much agitation to have this benefit extended to all in such a way as to be within the income of the workers and at the same time to rid the local authorities of the burdens of heavy subsidization.

In many places, building societies are financing the workers in their purchases of these new houses which generally are built on the most modern lines, designed to admit the maximum sunlight. Many well-to-do persons whose homes, while more aristocratic, lack some of the latest plumbing devices and improved ventilation methods, have been known to express sarcastic envy of the workers in their new homes.

Losing the Calendar in Ohio Wilds.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH

Even under the conditions of our complex civilization, when the matter of date is thrust upon us constantly in our occupations, one frequently becomes confused as to what day of the week or the month it is. But calendars galore are always at hand to set us straight.

It was vastly different with the trader and hunter of pioneer days in the wild Ohio country, and when the lone hunter lost the run of the calendar he remained in that condition until a chance touch with civilization again set him straight.

Zeisberger, the Moravian missionary, tells of such a service rendered by him at his Ohio mission to a party of several hunters and traders who came to the mission to trade with the Indians. Attention was called to their error by the fact that they noticed the Moravians observing as Sunday the day which they supposed was Monday.

The traders were so sure of their time reckoning that it was with some hesitation that they corrected themselves. In some way they had got a day ahead of the calendar since coming into the wilds.

The same traders sold some shirts to the Indians which were stolen the next night. Zeisberger, appealed to by the victims explained that he could do nothing, but suspecting that Indians at a nearby village had the property, he sent to them, advising that they be returned at once as otherwise the owners would probably recoup themselves by stealing horses from them, and the loss would probably fall in that case on some innocent member. The shirts were promptly returned.

Dinner Stories.

"Do you recall the box which a mythical lady inadvertently opened up, thereby releasing all kinds of human troubles?"

"Do you, by any chance," said Miss Cayenne, "mean a radio set?"

"What! Another new dress? How ever do you think I can find the money to pay for it?"

"Darling, you know I'm not inquisitive."

Critic—"I believe an artist should paint only what is in him."

Dauber—"But, my dear fellow, would you have us all doing colored medical charts?"

"The movie stars have to diet to keep thin."

"The movie plots, I notice, keep thin without any apparent effort."

"What I don't like about city folks," said Farmer Cortosael, "is that they're so imitative."

"In what respect?"

"We farmers put up a large and emphatic demand for relief. Now the next thing you know, everybody wants it."

Twenty Years Ago.

It was Sunday, May 19.

Sunday schools of Scott and Claridon townships held a convention in the Memorial M. E. church at Caledonia. Charles Shumaker was elected president of the association.

Peter Boger, 70, widely known Marion county Civil war veteran, died at his home on Oak street following a heart attack.

Miss Mary Pearl Sabins, 20, died of blood poisoning at her home on North Main street following an illness of four days.

A section of Trinity Baptist church was reserved for a delegation from Marion Lodge of Elks that attended services and heard a special program of music and a sermon by the pastor, Rev. Walter A. King, on the subject, "Lead Me and Teach Me."

Mrs. Sarah Burckhardt, former Marion resident, died in Cincinnati.

The Marion "Diggers" of the Ohio State league defeated Newark on the local grounds, 6 to 4, with Seibach pitching for Marion and Cooper for the visitors. The victory sent Marion into a tie with Newark for third place.

Dr. and Mrs. F. R. Mann entertained at dinner at their home on East Center street as a courtesy for guests from Findlay and Rising Sun.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hinamon and Mr. and Mrs. John G. Stalk and three-year-old daughter Isabel were injured when the Hinamon automobile turned over on a road near Agosta as the result of a tire blowing out.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE

New York, May 19—I have had several pups recently of that supine and native idiocy known as Marathon dancing. The dancers are fenced in on a smooth floor and so many sideshow exhibits with a backing of seats thrown up circus fashion. Spectators remain all night.

Out of 60 contesting couples at one time in its 47th day, nine pairs were carrying on and one determined Italian, bald and gray, was soloing it, having lost his partner. They are supposed to dance 45 minutes and rest and are fed every three hours on a special diet. Nearly all gain weight, some 10 pounds.

At rest intervals, they try to snatch a few winks, receive rub-downs and are aroused by a siren. Mostly those standing the gaff are professionals, who have been in major events all over the country. Their dress is grotesque—pajamas, crazily patched overalls, shorts and sweaters bearing ads.

A middle-aged mother and her cake-eating son were among those striving for the first prize. There was a honeymoon couple, married the day of the start, a brother and sister and what the ballyhoer calls "sweetheart couples." A duo of disgustingly unfunny comics heckle the dancers and otherwise make themselves a nuisance.

The greatest difficulty is after the rest periods. They come back to the floor in a desperate fight to remain awake. The one widest awake holds up the partner. After a time one of them is able to sleep soundly while the other acts as a support for a drag around the floor.

The soloist had reached the point of rapping on his feet and waking himself by the sensation of falling. At intervals a master of ceremony introduces participants and calls upon them for "stunts"—clogging, singing, etc. The audience is supposed to shower change.

The ace of tony apartment houses is the cream-colored structure, flush on the East river with a bleak vista of Welfare island's prison yard, known as No. 1 Sutton Place. It is 100 per cent cooperative and the selective process for tenants is strictest in town. The building was sponsored by John D. Rockefeller's son-in-law, David Milton. Yachts moor up to tenants' back doors.

Until two years ago, major circuses employed "a cigaret fiend" in side shows. He was usually cadaverous, hollow-eyed, pasty and dressed in black tights. For many years the horrible example was not exhibited in New York on account of the snickers. This amusement eventually spread to the outland and the "cigaret fiend" was withdrawn.

Thingumbobs: Tom Killilea, circus press agent, was once Irvin Cobb's office boy. . . . Winnie Sheehan's eyelashes reach clear out to here. . . . Lupe Velez is the Rialto's newest wild cat temperamentally. . . . Don Herold had had asthma so long he is used to it. . . . The cowboy, Will James, is afraid of revolving doors. . . . Roxy carries change in a snap purse. . . . Gilbert Miller walks around pavement gratings. . . . George Gershwin is learning to paint. . . . Blanche Ring plays expert poker. . . . Peggy Joyce is frequently squired by five gallants. . . . Harry Hershfield has been white-haired since 16.

There is a sober intensity about movies as presented at a self-effacing cinema called the Cameo in West 42d street. There are none of the humorous ingenuities of Krazy Kat or Jimmy Durante. But instead, films from Soviet Russia, travel expeditions into foreign lands, etc. Its audiences are mostly intellectuals.

Oddly enough, New York, save on the Bowery and in psychopathic wards, rarely reveals a "periodical drinker." In small towns where I have lived were always one or two men of respectability on bi-lonesomes. They drank themselves into delirium bordering on the horrors for weeks at a stretch and as suddenly returned to complete sobriety, a little pale enormously ashamed.

I am able to recall my first intoxicating drink—a glass of beer. The emptied glass was placed back on the mahogany with a lip smack and sleeve wipe as my father popped glowering through the swing doors. The ominous quiet before the cyclone. And I was yanked by the collar down the main street, walking Spanish. That evening I was given $20, along with the suggestion travel broadened the mind. And Plattsburg, Missouri's loss was Dayton, Ohio's gain.—Copyright, 1932, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

A Washington Daybook.

BY HERBERT FLUMMER

Washington, May 19—If there is such a thing as a study in legislative psychology, then the house of representatives of this 72nd congress offers a rich opportunity to students of this subject.

Some workings of the congressional mind have been revealed this session with a clarity that both astonishes and puzzles. Those, who in the past, have prided themselves on their ability to foretell the future on Capitol hill seem long since to have despaired.

One guess is about as good as another these days.

Let's go back for a moment to the time when the revenue bill "to balance the budget" was before the house. Charlie Crisp of Georgia, acting chairman of the ways and means committee, stands out as a big figure in that fight.

There was never a time during consideration of that bill that Crisp couldn't stir the turmoil and confusion in the house. All he had to do was to advance to the well and start speaking.

They would listen to him, applaud him vociferously at times, and rise to their feet cheering when he concluded.

Yet when a vote was ordered, this same Mr. Crisp who had been cheered and applauded a moment before, would be licked to a frazzle.

The same thing happened with young Lew Douglas, an Arizona Democrat, during the fight on the economy bill. Douglas, a World war veteran, the only congressman from a state that has more veterans per capita than any other, led the fight to reduce veterans' compensation.

His colleagues jumped to their feet and cheered him with high enthusiasm, but a few minutes later they voted to wipe out everything that he had supported.

How can you explain actions like these? Apparently in only one way—

Personally they admired Mr. Crisp and Mr. Douglas for daring to stand up and fight openly for their convictions. That perhaps is why they did all the cheering.

But at the same time they were of course that things like that don't pay. They demonstrated that by their votes. No one knows better than the experienced member of congress just how much truth there is in the political axiom:

The people sometimes will not trouble to repay with reelection the service done for the public as a whole.

FEAR FELT FOR 60 AMERICANS

Safety Threatened by Attacks of Chinese Communists; Situation Acute.

By The Associated Press

NANKING, May 19. The safety of 60 American men of them missionaries was threatened today at Pengpu by a host of 20,000 Chinese Communists which was overrunning northern Anhwei province.

The Communists had surrounded a force of 7,000 Nanking troops west of Pengpu and threatened to cut the Tientsin-Pukow railway south of there, blocking the arrival of reinforcements to aid the embattled government troops.

Reports from Americans at Pengpu said they doubted the Communists would be able to capture the city, but the appreciated it was acute.

The Chinese government rushed troops to Pengpu last Monday at the request of the American legation.

The Communists, who have been plundering wide areas caused a general exodus of foreigners and Chinese alike from these territories.

Most of the missionaries already have left northern Anhwei province and only H. S. Fergusson, a Canadian, was captured.

W. W. Moore, an American, had not been captured as late as Saturday, when he telegraphed, saying the situation was precarious but he was remaining to try to assist Fergusson, though he did not know where the latter was being held.

Nanking soldiers claim many of the men in the Communist army are former Nanking troops who were forced to resort to outlawry to obtain a living.

ADMITS STORY OF KIDNAPING IS HOAX

By The Associated Press

SCRANTON, Pa., May 19. A homesick young man who ran away last September after flunk cut reverses admitted to police today that a fantastic kidnaping story with which he hoped to disguise his movements was purely imaginative.

J. Drew Payne, 31-year-old justice of the peace and former Democratic nominee for congress, confessed that he wrote the ransom demands his wife recently received and that he applied the adhesive tape which bound his mouth and hands, when he was found lying beside a highway yesterday.

He related, after hours of questioning, that he left his home near Williamsport last September 17, intending never to return.

The desire to see his wife and his home again became overpowering.

POLICE HUNT CLUES IN OHIO KIDNAPING

Parents Unable To Explain Plot; Victim Found Shortly After Abduction.

By The Associated Press

STEUBENVILLE, O., May 19 – Additional clews were hunted today in the kidnaping of two-year-old Hershel Swearingen of Wintersville, who was found safe a half hour after he was stolen.

With a bruise over one eye, the boy was found Tuesday night only 500 yards from his home. Previously the parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Swearingen, had received three demands for $500, with the kidnaping threatened if they failed to accede.

Swearingen, a box maker, has little money, he said, and was unable to account for the plot. Officers said, however, they believed the extortionist heard the demands on the fact that the parents obtained judgements for $3,750 in damage suits within the last two years.

The judgements were for injuries received in automobile accidents by Swearingen's sons, Eugene, 17, and LeRoy, 6.

OUTLINES REMEDIES FOR ECONOMIC ILLS

Governor Cites Prosperity Aids in Address to Church Conference.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 19—Remedies for the present economic conditions of the nation are confidence in God, thrift and hard work, Governor White said in welcoming the delegates to the twenty-sixth quadrennial conference of the Methodist Protestant church in 10-day session here.

"Too many persons played the stock market," the governor said. "In the so-called boom days, people lost sight of spiritual life. It should be appreciated that we must return to the fundamentals of life and that real values are to be found in the men and women of the nation."

Three hours of oratory failed to change a single vote and Dr. John G. Broomfield of Pittsburgh, was re-elected president of the general conference. Dr. James H. Straughn of Baltimore, was selected executive secretary.

In discussing a proposed merger of the Methodist Protestant and Methodist Episcopal churches, Dr. Broomfield predicted an ultimate agreement, but added that he favored "a union not absorption, by the larger church."

By The Associated Press

LAGUNA BEACH, Calif., May 19 – C. C. "Cuvy" Cravath, who held the major league home run record before Babe Ruth started hoisting them over the fence, was issued a walk by the city council because the city court isn't on a paying basis.

Mayor J. E. Bishop explained it this way: "We asked and asked Judge Cravath (Cuvy has been city judge here, by the way, since the town was incorporated in 1927) not to show so much leniency in administering fines, but he just went on making 'em light."

So the council, last night asked Cravath to resign.

But Cravath still has his justice of the peace job. That's an elective office. The city judgeship isn't.

Cravath, formerly with the Philadelphia Nationals, retired from baseball in 1923.

CURTIS CLEARED OF PART IN KIDNAPING

Also Not Connected with Ransom Collection, Officer Says.

would give all information to the Norfolk police.

Moore Plans Action

Governor A. Harry Moore of New Jersey immediately announced he favored "sending some one to Norfolk to see what he has to say," and indicated a representative probably would be named by Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of state police. Col. Schwarzkopf said he was "very anxious" to confront Curtis with Peacock.

The exoneration of Curtis came in the morning bulletin from Col. Schwarzkopf. This related that there was "nothing that would in any way link Curtis with the actual kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby and the collection of the ransom money."

This statement was made after an investigation of Curtis' whereabouts the night the baby was kidnaped and the night of April 2, when Dr. John F. Condon, "Jafsie" pushed $50,000 through a hedge in a Bronx cemetery to the supposed kidnapers.

Curtis' Moves Traced

Norfolk Director of Public Safety Charles B. Borland today said an investigation revealed that Curtis reached New York at 10 a. m. April 2, the day "Jafsie" paid the futile $50,000 ransom to the supposed kidnapers.

Borland said Curtis left New York four days later in an automobile for Philadelphia, where he was met by Lieut. George L. Richard, pilot, who was frequently used by the Norfolk "negotiators" on airplane flights. Richard flew Curtis to Norfolk.

The Norfolk official declined to say whether he attached any significance to the information he gathered.

Curtis was jailed at Flemington yesterday, following his confession that he had perpetrated a hoax on the Lindberghs in claiming falsely that he was in direct contact with the kidnapers of their baby.

After the confession investigation was immediately begun as to Curtis' whereabouts on the night of March 1, when the baby was kidnaped and the night of April 2, when the $50,000 ransom was paid by Dr. John F. Condon. Schwarzkopf's statement today came as a result of this investigation.

After exonerating Curtis of implication in the actual kidnaping and collection of the ransom, Schwarzkopf said that Dr. Condon had been "most cooperative with police" and had offered to come to Hopewell or go anywhere else with the investigators.

Jafsie to Rest

"A message received from his daughter this morning," Schwarzkopf said, "indicates that Dr. Condon's physician has ordered that he rest for several days before his activities are resumed. As soon as Dr. Condon is rested we will continue taking him around."

Schwarzkopf's statement also made comment on the telegram from Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock, in which the Norfolk associate in the Curtis activities declined to come to Hopewell, but said he would give all information to police going to Norfolk.

"Under these circumstances," said Schwarzkopf, "it will not be possible to confront Mr. Curtis with Mr. Peacock, which at this time we are very anxious to do. There is no legal way in which we can force Mr. Peacock's presence in either Hopewell or Flemington. The fact that Peacock requested the deposit of $25,000 in Norfolk is substantiated by Col. Lindbergh and others who were present when Peacock made the request."

The full statement as it applied to Curtis follows:

"On April 2, Mr. Curtis was in the company of Lieut. Richards and his actions are accounted for. There is nothing that would in any way link him with the actual kidnapers and the collection of the ransom money."

"When Mr. Curtis was first questioned he manifested concern for the safety of his family and we requested director of public safety, Col. Charles Borland of Norfolk, Va., to protect the Curtis family. No reports have been received that any threats have been made against any member of his family."

Did Not See Notes

"It is understood that Mr. Curtis has a brother, George, who, however, lives in or near Norfolk and nowhere in the vicinity of New York. At no time did Mr. Curtis see any of the actual ransom notes, nor the signature on them. In fact, it was the request of Col. Lindbergh for actual truth of his contacts with the kidnapers that was the basis, upon the desire, to have Mr. Curtis bring from his kidnapers, a letter of communication bearing the signature known to be that of the kidnapers."

Curtis, after ten weeks of promise as a negotiator for the return of the child alive, was in jail at Flemington. The charge was obstructing justice. Conviction provides a penalty of three years in jail, a $1,000 fine or both.

The 47-year-old boatbuilder who blames financial worries for his attempt to foist his gigantic hoax upon the world waived preliminary hearing late yesterday.

The sight of jail and iron bars loosed tongues and he spoke bitterly for a fellow Norfolk negotiator, the Rev. H. Dobson Peacock and slightly of the third members of the Norfolk group, Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage, retired.

The Clergyman, Curtis said, was a "publicity fiend," and joined the hoax for the publicity it would bring. The clergyman at Norfolk, denied expressing doubt that Curtis would make such a statement.

Burrage was referred to by Curtis as "an old fool." The retired commander has been exonerated by police of any knowledge that he was lending his name and aid to a hoax fashioning about the tragic fate of the son of the famed Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Check Curtis' Movements

Two retinues of detectives by state police that the Rev. Mr. Dobson-Peacock came to New Jersey and tell the authorities what he knows of the Curtis deception were answered last night with a counter-proposal in which the clergyman suggested that the police come to him.

In connection with that gravevard transaction involving the transfer of circle currency of small denominations the police were making a sinister check of Curtis' movements on that night. Their information was that Curtis left Norfolk that day by airplane and flew to New York. Officers seek to learn what time he spent in New York and where he was while Jafsie, Col. Lindbergh and Col. Henry Breckinridge, Lindbergh's friend and counsel—consummated the transfer of ransom money in the Bronx burial ground.

The guard about the Flemington jail throughout the night was instructed to watch the prisoner closely, both as a precaution for his own safety from any outside violence that might threaten and because of fears that the boatbuilder might attempt suicide. Curtis, by his own confession, has stated that financial troubles leading to the bankruptcy of his boatbuilding business, and worry over the hoax he has perpetrated have weighed heavily on his mind.

Clears Up Details of Curtis Confession

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 19—References in the Lindbergh confession of John Hughes Curtis to two men not fully identified were cleared up today.

In explaining his claim he had been offered money for his "knowledge of the Lindbergh case or pictures of the baby," Curtis said:

"Mr. Twin and Fox offered me money."

Although the identity of the "Mr. Twin" was not known immediately, the "Fox" reference was generally interpreted as referring to the Fox Film company. The Fox Film company is in no way involved and this correction is emphasized.

Today Sam Fox, a Norfolk (Va.) photographer, said he had acted for a news photograph syndicate in offering Curtis $2,500 for exclusive pictures of the Lindbergh baby, or for enabling him to photograph the baby before any one else.

To which, he said, Curtis replied:

"It is hard for me to say at this time what I can do."

P. E. Turin, manager of the advertising board of the Norfolk-Portsmouth chamber of commerce, said he had made no offer to Curtis, but that the shipbuilder had broached to him, as manager of the Norfolk-Portsmouth news bureau, suggestions of remuneration for information concerning his negotiations.

"If I did not like the baby I would not write this, but if you want the baby and the fellers you must keep this secret. These fellers have a radio and read plenty newspapers. If you catch the fellers and the baby will you let me go free."

The letter was signed simply "Thank you" and bore no name. It was printed with pencil. The paper was blue-lined and of a cheap grade. The letter was postmarked Buffalo, N. Y., March 10 at 6:30 a. m. The printing was similar to that on a postcard mailed from Newark a day or so after the kidnaping.

I don't see that there's anything

She dropped on to the dressing

her face. Oh but she was tired body and spirit and before she could get back her nervous energy she would have to argue and coax and plead.

Madge Bravely Faces the Ordeal of Telling Dicky of the Secret She Has Shared with Grantland and Lee Chow

I HAD been prepared for Lillian's dictum that Dicky and Harry must know of the conversation between Sam Brixton and Charles Owen which Lee Chow had overheard and a transcript of which he had sent on to Hugh Grantland under a pledge of secrecy. But with every frayed fiber of my nerves I dreaded what Dicky's reaction would be to the knowledge that Hugh Grantland had shared this secret with me.

I will tell Dicky myself I said resolutely. But I would like you to tell Harry about it.

She hesitated looking at me curiously.

It can wait a little while she said. Of course they must know before the Brixtons come for I want Harry and Dicky to observe Sam very carefully. They will be able to tell whether he is acting a part or not. But Helena and Sam can not get here for another two hours. I am sure of it. And nothing else can be done before morning so if you want to wait a little while—

No I'd rather get it over with I said feeling as if I had been ordered to the guillotine. If you and Mary will go back into the living room and ask Dicky to come here—

I'll send him right in she said gravely and then they went out. It was less than five minutes before Dicky knocked lightly upon the door but I had lived through five years of apprehension in the interval.

A Confession to Make

What's up he asked gravely when he had closed the door behind him. There was no tenderness in his eyes. I remembered dully that there had been none there since the day of our departure from the farm for the city when Lee Chow had brought me the letter from Hugh.

He had seen the Chinese give me that letter after all. I was suddenly certain of that and almost imperceptibly my soul lost something of the fierce jealous wrath he had expected.

What Dicky Thought

"There's no doubt in the world he said that you ought to be put on bread and water in solitary for a year. But perhaps this will be a lesson to you to realize that you can't engage in secret and entangling alliances. Isn't that the phrase?—without the knowledge of the people entitled to the knowledge you have gained even if it does affect the so-called honor of a sap in Chink. But as far as I am concerned there's no real harm done and as far as Fa he caught himself with a baleful epithet "faithful Hugh on his lips as long as Hugh is on the job as he seems to be. Where is his letter by the way? You gave me Lee Chow's but I'd like to look over his.

I have it I said miserably I love it up!
